

GANESH KAMATH

Now:

President, Global Food
Ingredient Company, LLC.

Email: ganeshkamath@cox.net

After graduation from N.C. State in 1990 Ganesh started his professional career at Louis Kemp Seafood Company (Division of Oscar Mayer) as a Research Scientist in Duluth, MN. Louis Kemp Seafood Co. was acquired by Tyson Foods and he moved to Springdale, Arkansas in 1994. He played different roles as Director of Science & Technology, Director of Central Research, and Director of Strategic Innovation. After 20 years of service he left Tyson Foods in 2010 to start his own consulting company.

Then:

Ph.D. in Food Science 1990
North Carolina State University

Ganesh completed his Ph.D. in Food Science in 1990. His advisor was Dr. Lanier. Thesis title: Investigation of physico-chemical basis for the unique “setting” phenomenon of Alaska pollock and Atlantic croaker surimi.